Hi all! This is a repost of an older post in case you didn't read it when I originally wrote it. :)

I didn't get that break I mentioned I would take about a month ago - surprise, surprise. But I did learn a lot from your fabulous questions received in the meantime! It sent me on a journey of discovery, and I do love discovery.

I have written down some of your questions, and what it means to migrate to Unconditional Jessica, or hop-scotch between my Unacceptable Jessica and Unconditional Jessica newsletters. By the way, I have since unpaused billing for Unacceptable Jessica (I took all of 3 days off), and that means that things are 'back to normal' with regard to billing cycle. Someone asked about that today in an email.

As most of you are likely aware, I started my new newsletter Unconditional Jessica; kind of like turning the page in a book: fresh blank page (which will always be unpaid).

I am maintaining Unacceptable Jessica (I like it too much!) and continue to put out rad content from here as well.

It's hard work to maintain these newsletters and to keep them entertaining and educational and up-to-date but I am committed. :)

1. Does my paid subscription transfer to the new newsletter?

Nope. Unacceptable and Unconditional Jessica are entirely different entities. The former is a paid optional newsletter whereby if you can afford to and wish to 'donate', you can do so - but you never have to. The option to stay a free Unacceptable Jessica reader will always be there. As I have always upheld, I will never force my readers to pay to read my content.

2. Will the content from Unacceptable be worth paying for?

Of course! The old and the new!

3. Will the content from Unconditional be sheit?

Never! I will always put my heart and soul into every article I write because, well, that's my default. :)

If you have any more questions, please leave a comment! I will slowly try to answer them all.

Your one of the best writers all the way around. And at six decades I have read one hell of stack!

Thanks for the work. You are blessed

Q

This is one of the emails I received the other day. I get hundreds daily, and I am hearing you all.

This particular note spoke loudly to me and this lovely person gave me permission to share her words.
